

10 High Demand Skilled Trades Jobs In Canada

Canada has seen a robust demand for skilled trades jobs across various sectors, certainly making it important in the selection of immigrants as well as better job prospects for Canadian residents.

1. Electricians

Currently, there are approximately 8,500 job openings for electricians across Canada.

2. Carpenters

There are currently about 6,000 job openings for carpenters across the country. This number is expected to increase as the housing market continues to expand and as more infrastructural projects commence.

3. Welders

Currently, there are approximately 5,000 job openings for welders across Canada. This demand is driven by ongoing projects in construction and the continuous need for the manufacturing of machinery and other metal products.

4. Plumbers

There are approximately 7,000 job openings for plumbers across Canada. This number reflects the constant need for plumbing maintenance and the growth in new construction projects.

5. HVAC Technicians

There are currently about 4,500 job openings for HVAC technicians across Canada. This number is expected to grow as more buildings, both residential and commercial, require advanced climate control solutions.

6. Heavy Equipment Operators

There are currently about 4,000 job openings for Heavy Equipment operators across Canada.

7. Industrial Mechanics

Currently, there are approximately 3,500 job openings for Industrial Mechanics across Canada.

8. Steamfitters

There are currently about 2,500 job openings for steamfitters across Canada. This number is expected to grow as industrial sectors continue to expand and upgrade their facilities.

9. Bricklayers

Currently, there are approximately 3,000 job openings for bricklayers across Canada. This number reflects the steady demand for masonry work in both residential and commercial construction.

10. Sheet Metal Workers

There are currently about 3,200 job openings for sheet metal workers across Canada. This number is indicative of the ongoing need for metal components in various sectors, including construction, automotive, and aerospace.